OVERVIEW

Kacey is the Assistant Director of the Workers' Compensation Department, where he assists in the oversight of 35 attorneys in 10 offices. He also serves as the managing attorney of the Workers' Compensation Department in the Harrisburg office.

In addition to his various management responsibilities, Kacey focuses his practice on high-exposure and complex workers' compensation litigation, representing clients in the construction, oil and gas, grocery, hospitality, landscaping, transportation and poultry industries. Kacey also consults with workers' compensation carriers to provide advice and guidance on pre-litigated workers' compensation cases. He is also a frequent presenter on topics relating to workers' compensation for carriers and employers.

A graduate of Washington & Jefferson College, Kacey received a B.A. in Political Science and Business Administration. He subsequently received his juris doctor from Widener University School of Law.

RESULTS

More Than $30,000 Recovered for Employer in Workers' Compensation Case

Workers' Compensation

September 25, 2023

We prevailed on termination, suspension and review petitions, where the workers' compensation judge found that the claimant was fully recovered as of the date of our medical expert's examination. The judge found our witnesses more credible than the claimant's and denied the claimant's review petition to expand the accepted injury. We successfully recovered $33,508 from the Supersedeas Fund for our client.

Successfully Prosecuted Termination Petition on Behalf of a Multinational Manufacturing Corporation.

Workers' Compensation

March 15, 2023

We presented medical evidence, including a record review of all diagnostic study films and medical records from a Board-certified physiatrist, to establish that the claimant's physiological complaints were unrelated to a work injury. The judge accepted our evidence as fully competent, persuasive and credible, and, as a result, terminated the claimant's benefits.

Successful defense of claim petition in case involving forklift accident.

Workers' Compensation

November 10, 2022

The claimant was hit by a forklift while operating a forklift, and alleged the accident caused a back injury. Through employer witness testimony and medical testimony, we showed that the claimant did not sustain a back injury, and that her medical issues were pre-existing and unrelated to the accident. The judge found that the evidentiary evidence presented by the employer established that, even though the claimant was involved in a forklift incident, the claimant did not sustain a work injury, and her ongoing medical issues are unrelated to the forklift accident.

Defense prevails in high-exposure workers' comp case.

Workers' Compensation

April 22, 2022

We prevailed on a lengthy case on behalf of a trash collection company. The case involved testimony from seven employer witnesses, in addition to medical expert testimony. We successfully defended all petitions pertaining to the claim, including review and penalty petitions. This high-exposure case—the claimant had an average weekly wage of $2,846 with a maximum compensation rate—was the result of the claimant being terminated for failure to timely report a work-related injury as per company policy.

Favorable decision from Workers' Compensation Appeal Board.

Workers' Compensation

May 7, 2021

We obtained a favorable decision from the Workers' Compensation Appeal Board, reversing the underlying judge's decision pertaining to a school district's entitlement to a credit for wages paid to a school teacher pursuant to a collective bargaining agreement. The Board granted credits for wages received by the injured worker through the school district's collective bargaining agreement, allowing offsets against the claimant's future entitlement to wage loss benefits.
